

BUFFALO PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION → MOVE TO IMPROVE

These economic art installations, pieces, and adjustments serve as a visually stimulating contrast to the gray cloudy and snowy skies that occupy a large portion of Buffalo's seasonal weather.

Transportation is an essential part of everyday life; However, the sustainability of transportation has been challenging particularly in the context of cities.

- Copyright © 2013 Bruno Creative LLC
- Mike Stenerson, Graffiti Artist

Church St. Station, Buffalo, NY

The city of Buffalo has an efficient metro system. Nonetheless, the number of people who drive automobiles is still greater than the number of people who utilize alternative public transportation systems such as the NFTA-Metro.

Church St. Station, Buffalo, NY

Making-way for bike lanes starting out from suburbs such as Amherst all the way down to the city of Buffalo; this will increase safety for bicyclist and encourage others to try commuting via bicycles.

Church St. Station, Buffalo, NY

Through alternative public transportation systems such as the metro and cycling, Buffalo has the potential to become a more sustainable and aesthetically pleasing city.

Possible Solutions:

- Implementing bike lanes in existing infrastructure
- Creating new bike lanes in areas barren of lanes
- Commissioning local artist to create murals/ art pieces/structures
- Promoting existing bike solutions with a stronger social media presence
- <http://gobikebuffalo.org/programs/recycle-a-bike/>
- Placing bike maps in Train/Bus stops and other populated areas (malls, stores, etc...)

NFTA Metro Systems, Inc.

Map data © 2014 Google

We believe constructing more metro stations would not only help decrease urban sprawl, but increase ridership for the NFTA-Metro.

Southlake Village, UB North Campus

Installing convenient bike racks throughout the city and adding bike lanes throughout Buffalo will foster a bicycle friendly environment.

Notes: The image on the upper left corner is a collage comprised of, mainly, New York City subway art